MISCELLANEOUS READING. STRUGGLES OF THE POOR.

Poverty falls most heavily on those who have enjoyed a competence, and by some revulsion of fortune or the death of those on whom they were dependent are reduced to penury. A true Christain benevolence loves to seek out and aid such sufferers. Here is an illustration from the New York Tribune:

"What! make fine shirts for nine shillings a "Yes, sir; indeed I can get nothing else to

"Nine shillings a dozen! nine cents apiece.

But how many can you make a day?"
"One, sir, if I have my time; but I have my little boy, two years old, and he's quite fretful this warm weather, so that I do not always finish it, unless I can work at night?"

"I would, sir, and do, so long as I can afford to, but indeed, sir, what with feeding my four little ones, I cannot afford to buy

"Four children! Poor woman! I fear you have a hard task to pay the landlord! What rent do vou pay?!! "Four dollars a month, sir."

"And you earn fifty-four cents a week.— How long have you lived here?" "My husband died in March last. He was a manufacturer of daguerreotype colors. We lived up town then. But his long sickness consumed what little money we had; and when he died I was obliged to sell most that we had in the house and come down here with my four little ones." "Your oldest boy is nine years; you can scarcely earn more than will pay your rent. How do you furnish food for your-

"This young woman pays three shillings a week for a part of the room. We had a silver-plated teapot, sugar-bowl, and such like, and some spoons. For these I got nearly their value. I have sold everything I had besides. I have no more to sell.'

The tears came into her eyes. Poor thing she could not help it. "Indeed, sir, I would not have sent for you if the sight of my children in rags and hunger did not compel me to do so." A full supply of WINDOW GLASS, of all sizes. "Your rent is paid for this month." knew it was, or she would not be a tenant of "God bless you, sir!" A heavy load of care withdrew from her mind, and a cloud from her face. Nine shillings per dozen for making shirts, with plaited bosoms, linen wristbands, and to be well made; for if a flaw can be picked in the workmanship, all the seamstress's work goes for nothing. Do you believe it? It is a fact? We saw the shirts to-day. We saw the care-worn and work-worn mother and her children .-We have heard that such facts were plenty. We know they are! Would some charitable ladies like to see the same? Let them go to the House of Industry any day for one hour, and if they do not return to their homes with
